

What can motorists, cyclists and pedestrians do?

What can motorists do?

- Know your route before you leave.
- Always wear your seat belt.
- Focus on driving and do not use your phone or any other electronic device while driving.
- Watch your speed. Posted speed limits are for ideal driving conditions. Adjust when necessary.
- Share the road with pedestrians, bicyclists and motorcyclists by driving with courteous behavior.
- Keep your distance. Give yourself room to change lanes safely and take evasive action in emergencies.
- Signal your intentions so other road users know what you plan to do next.
- Reduce your speed when approaching crosswalks and always yield to pedestrians.
- Never drink and drive. Remember, buzzed driving is drunk driving.

What can cyclists do?

- Protect your head by wearing a helmet.
- Stay visible and use hand signals to let other road users know what you plan to do next.
- Keep your distance. Give yourself room to change lanes safely and take evasive action in emergencies.
- Stay alert and do not listen to music or talk on the phone while riding.
- Ride with the flow of traffic, not against it.
- Obey all traffic laws, signs and lights.
- Do not ride on the sidewalk, which is intended for pedestrians.

What can pedestrians do?

- Stay alert and avoid distractions. Put away your cell phone and do not wear headphones.
- Use crosswalks when crossing the street.
- Stay in well-lit areas.
- Never assume a driver will give you the right of way. Attempt to make eye contact with a driver before entering the roadway.
- Stay on sidewalks whenever possible.
- Avoid walking along highways or other roadways where pedestrians are prohibited.
- Know and follow all traffic rules, signs and signals.
